EMS Education Retainer Program

* Training Fund Eligible Agencies ****

Many NJ EMS organizations are struggling to train their talent. With the EMT Training Fund's limited reimbursement, many BLS agencies are finding their local training centers are no longer accepting the EMT Training Fund as a form of payment.

In the meanwhile, the complexity of maintaining trained pre-hospital care staff is increasing. EMT certification courses are getting longer, requirements from OSHA and other regulators are getting more strict and responding to emergencies requires more and more credentials every year

Less Stress Instructional Services has created a program to assist BLS agencies meet the challenges of providing 21st century EMS.

The LSIS EMS Education Retainer Program is a service where BLS agencies forge a partnership with our training company and receive a number of consulting and training services. Retained agencies get access to EMT Training, continuing education, instructor training, AHA CPR card processing, online courses, and on-site training programs for a nominal yearly fee.

Your BLS agency will be supported by expert emergency care staff that includes EMT-Instructors, Paramedics, and registered nurses lead by a Physician boarded in Emergency Medicine. We will use our American Heart Association Training Center status and training equipment distributorships to add value to your organization's internal training programs. Our large list of pre-approved CEU programs and affiliation with local hospitals gives your staff a broad range of choices when seeking training.

The cost of the EMT Training Retainership is $2999/year per BLS agency.
